JESUS SAID,

"LET NOT YOUR HEARTS BE TROUBLED;

BELIEVE IN GOD,

BELIEVE ALSO IN ME."

IN MEMORY OF FOREST POLSOM

When I Must Leave You

When I must leave you for a little while . . . .
Please do not grieve and shed wild tears
And hug your sorrow to you through the years,
But start out bravely with a gallant smile;
And for my sake and in my name
Live on and do all things the same,
Feed not your loneliness on empty days,
But fill each waking hour in useful ways,
Reach out your hand in comfort and in cheer
And I in turn will comfort you and hold you near;
And never, never be afraid to die,
For I am waiting for you in the sky!

"PARENTS ARE LIKE THAT" PRESENTED BY SENIORS

When circumstances indicate the impending elopement of Barby Burton (Jacque Kralik) and Ross Wheeler (Ken Pashek), her family and the whole town become suspicious. Add to that Donny, her prank-playing kid brother (Lyle Polson), Jelly, her mischievous kid sister (Diane Dodge), and Clara, her gossip-loving maiden aunt (Linda Hardisty), and it's no wonder that Dad (Reldon Spring) and Mother (Stephanie Hethcote) Burton and Ross's mother (Alice Sweeney) come to that conclusion.

At this time Mr. Burton is about to win a nomination to the school board, unless a family scandal arises. The fact that Donny is suspected of deflating the mayor's (Larry Wynn) auto tires doesn't help. A vigorous little girl named Fretos (Chris Wood) happens along with her candid camera at the time of the operations on the car, too.

Finally Donny is cleared of the crime to his and his girl friend's (Linda Yearington) relief, and Ross has his inevitable talk with Mr. Burton.

When it is revealed to the Burtons that Barby and Ross are starting a newspaper, not eloping, all is cleared up--but then Barby gets a shiny new ring and surprises her family once again.

The stage depicted the Burton's living-dining room. In the picture Mr. and Mrs. Burton are talking over Barby's feared elopement.

SENIORS INITIATE FRESHMEN

On September 24 the freshmen's big night arrived. A fashion show was held in which they modeled their lovely ensembles. A kangaroo court session followed. The freshmen performed certain duties assigned to them by the seniors, and finally judgment was passed: The judge and jury decided to admit the defendants to high school. A dance followed which was enjoyed by all present.

Freshmen are tested on Hula Hoop ability.

"GREEN DRAGON" THEME OF HALLOWEEN PARTY

You see before you the best pumpkin thieves in all of Adams County. Ron, Pete, Fargo, Willy, and Ed really know how to terrorize those pumpkin planters.

The junior class, who sponsored the Halloween Party, chose the theme of the "Green Dragon." Dark lights and floor mats helped set the mood. The Marauders provided entertainment for part of the evening.

Maynard, Jinks, and John supplied the beat and inspired the vibrations of the party-goers. The work of the Marauders was greatly enjoyed.

The kids surely appreciate the good examples set by interested teachers like Mr. Hinrichs and Mr. Mowry.

You had better watch these two: Jinks and Jarie take anything they can get their hands on. It looks like they have already gotten to the lights.

A marvelous time!!

Hilarity

Excitement

Suspense

Chaos

All combined to make this year's junior class play, "Washington Never Slept Here", a raving success. The director, Miss Mary Hardman, and the scenic director and arranger, Mr. Robert Hinrichs, played a very important role in the production. It was a fine play with a fine cast.

JUNIORS WORK HARD FOR JUNIOR-SENIOR PROM

The welcome was presented by Jaris Knapp, vice-president of the junior class.

Master of ceremonies for the prom was Ronald Young, president of the junior class.

The Junior-Senior Banquet and Prom was handled somewhat differently this year. The big event was held at The Inn near Creston on Highway 34. A marvelous meal and some fine entertainment added a lot to the evening. The juniors certainly enjoyed honoring the seniors and the seniors, as well as the juniors, were pleased with the food, the program of a welcome, a thank-you, two small speeches, an Oriental dance, a documentary of the seniors' younger days, and the farewell. The juniors would like to thank all those who helped to make the prom the success that it was; and to the seniors, the juniors wish all the success that they so deserve.

The juniors and seniors were addressed by Superintendent Pierce early in the evening.

Lyle Polson, president of the senior class, offered the farewell and asked the juniors to make the most of their senior year.

A Buddha, surrounded by flowers, dominated the Oriental setting.

The special guest, Sonjai Nakawajana, exchange student from Thailand living at Corning, presented an Oriental dance.

Juniors, seniors, and teachers enjoyed the banquet . . . . . .

. . . . . and also the dance afterward.

Iowa Southern Utilities

The editors of the 1966 EAGLE wish to express their gratitude to the annual staff who spent many study halls to help complete our annual. We are proud of the annual staff's co-operativeness and their willingness to work. Their ideas and suggestions have proven to be very helpful and have led to the success of this book.

A special thanks goes to Miss Wright and Mr. Jones, our sponsors, who solved many of our specific problems, and to Mr. Pierce, for the time he spent in the final proofreading of the copies. Thanks goes to Mrs. Hanna for helping with the correspondence and mailing procedures of this year's annual.

Thank you.

CLASS POEM

We're going to review the class of '66
And show the traits as they do exist.
We're doing it slowly, one by one
And we're hoping that you'll get in on the fun.

Janet's the editor of our paper;
With luck, it came out sooner or later.
As a cut-up she is widely known;
For lack of friends, she'll never be alone.

Ken is often seen in a certain red car
Driving with Pat to a judo spar.
Count on him for class debate;
In track he does participate.

With bells on her shoes at the games she'd cheer;
Her talent will be missed during the coming year.
Jacque excells in music, too.
There isn't a thing this girl can't do.

Rel is well-known for his laugh;
He was also on the annual staff.
In his '58 Ford he would drive;
In the business world he will thrive.

The tallest in our class is Jim;
Tinkering with cars you will often see him.
With the basketball he is greatly skilled;
The forward position he has filled.

A '61 Chev is Greg's delight;
He keeps it polished shiny and bright.
In sports he seems to make the grade;
His interest in hunting will never fade.

Steve's the girl with a diamond on her hand;
We can tell a wedding is being planned.
For women's rights she would always fight;
Of crawly creatures she has a fright.

Student manager Larry is next in line.
For mischief he is chiefly inclined.
To the teachers he is bad news;
And the females he always pursues.

Linda Yearington has big plans to wed;
For a frown she has a kind word instead.
A helping hand she would always lend;
She is ever ready to be a friend.

Diane's favorite color is Brown;
Things always happen when she's around.
With big blue eyes and a ready smile
She is always in the latest style.

Gloria, now known as Jeannie,
Is, in height, rather teeny.
To be a beautician is her dream,
And with a radiant smile she is always seen.

Chris Wood, our basketball star--
Her shining eyes and smile will take her far.
Her personality is tops,
And smiles from her will never stop.

There's Lyle Polson, the joker of the group;
His well-known smile will never droop.
He is our ace baseball pitcher;
His humor will make others richer.

Of course we must not forget Linda Jane;
Success in life she will surely gain.
She is witty as well as smart;
We know she is off to a very good start.

A student council member is Alice;
An office will always be her palace,
For in business she does excel.
In sports she also did very well.

Now as we all take our last looks
At the school house, teachers, and our books,
We bid you farewell and go on our way,
And hope we will all meet again some day.

SENIOR CLASS PROPHECY

I often wondered about those 1966 seniors. That outfit always did intrigue me. I call them outfit because the name seems to fit so well. So I was anxious to find out what each one was doing. This was in 1977.

Perhaps Prescott would be the best place to start. I found Greg Rice and his hard-working wife happily married and living on a properous farm. So leaving his wife to continue her plowing, Greg took me to an elegant restaurant right there in Prescott. It had grown into a large town because of the expansion of industry in the nearby cities.

"The dignified gentleman at the cash register looks familiar," I remarked, as we sat waiting to be served.

"That's Jim," Greg replied. "Didn't you notice the sign over the door?"

"Yes, but it didn't register. You mean Sticken, the Olympic Champion Mile Runner?"

"None other. He couldn't run across the street now. He eats too much." Just then Jim recognized me and came over for a visit.

When he left to tend to business, Greg and I sauntered out. "Any more of your class around here?" I asked.

"One more," Greg replied. "We'll go up to the school house."

Seated behind the superintendent's desk, grinning like a fox eating yellow jackets, was none other than good old fire escape sliding Lyle Polson himself. He enjoys his work and is doing a fine job.

A friend invited me to go to Saint Louis with him to see a ball game. The Cardinals were playing the Dodgers. I suspected my friend did this on purpose. For he said, "Let's go up into the press box." And who should be there but Larry Wynn, whose native talent and wide experience had virtually pushed him into the managership of the Saint Louis Cardinals. However, the Cardinals lost.

I felt my friend was up to something else when he said, with a twinkle in his eye, "We'll stay all night here and go to the auto races tomorrow."

As we walked up to the registration desk, the tall lady in charge said, "Do you all want a room?"

I looked at her a moment and replied, "Say, Sister, you are not Southern. I know you. Your name is Alice Sweeney, is it not?"

"It is. I thought I could fool you. I'm bookkeeper here, and part-time room clerk." She said she enjoys her work, but even more her play.

The auto race proved exciting. It was the last time around. The first car was only half a length ahead of the second. Then at the finish it was hard to tell who won. Then over the loud speakers came the words, "Spring won." My friend, with a grin, turned to me, "Reldon." What a surprise that was to me!

"How did he ever get that way?" I asked my friend.

"Easy," he replied. "Practiced in high school."

On our way home, we decided to visit the others. Near the Offut Air Force Base we found Linda Yearington, now Mrs. Eugene Hardisty. She had seen much of the United States, following Eugene around.

In a hospital in Omaha we found two girls working together, Diane Dodge and Linda Jane Hardisty. They are laboratory technicians in the X-ray department. They are both engaged to doctors. Linda Jane is as sedate as ever. And Diane is still up to tricks, as usual. For example, when she takes an X-ray picture, she always says, "Smile please."

We found Gloria Harrison operating a beauty salon in connection with her husband's barber shop in Council Bluffs.

In Des Moines, we were glad to see that Jacque Kralik and husband were on the music staff of Drake University. Also in Des Moines, we found Stephanie Hethcote still married to that Terry Hutchings. He and Steve have a play troupe that goes about the country putting on some mighty fine plays. Christine Wood is doing an excellent job with the troupe, too, and expects to organize her own troupe soon.

We met Janet Ruch and her insurance salesman husband as they were about to enter the Banker's Life building. Janet is a receptionist there.

"But where is Ken Pashek?" I asked, as we walked down the streets of Creston after arriving home. Just then we saw a dignified gentleman coming toward us. Conversation disclosed that he was to be head of the history department in Creston Community College.

"And what is your good wife Pat doing?" I asked.

"Oh, she has been promoted to general manager of the telephone company." he replied. "She put me through school."

After leaving him, my friend said, "Well, that is all of them."

To which I replied, "And a mighty fine outfit they are."
